

Dewart Gleason is a leading litigation boutique, focusing on civil, union-side labour and administrative law. We are looking for a lawyer with one to five years post-call experience to join our accomplished team of scrappy advocates.

The minimum requirements for the position include superior academic transcripts, a demonstrated commitment to workers' rights or other progressive causes, an ability to work in close collaboration with colleagues and solid writing skills. Interested candidates should apply to careers@dglp.ca. Please include a copy of undergraduate and law school transcripts and a brief covering letter.

We will only contact candidates who have been selected for an interview and thank all applicants for their interest.
